This material may be used by any interested party. Modify it, copy it, share it. But you may not sell it or post it on your website without permission of UMCM and the author. It is our hope that, the more resources are shared, the more all of our county's educational opportunities can be strengthened—for all of us.

Acknowledgements

Many persons and groups helped us develop and field-test the Living in Pinellas County units. We owe special thanks to:

- Christy Richards, Administrator, Clearwater Adult Education Center
- The students, teachers, and volunteer tutors who field-tested and provided feedback
- Judy Kenney, who helped with research and unit planning
- The UMCM staff, for assistance and encouragement, especially Executive Director Donna C. Ratzlaff and Jan Setzekorn, Director of Literacy Services
- Sandra Thursby, whose mentoring and help with publishing and using the materials made the whole project a reality
- READ Pinellas, for support and encouragement

We are very grateful to the many individuals and groups who have read materials, made corrections, and provided all kinds of information, photos, and other graphics:

- Terri Legatti, Art/Graphics Manager, Department of Public Affairs, Pinellas County
- Keith Cate of WFLA News Channel 8
- Anne W. Anderson, for the staged violence photos
- UMCM Volunteers Jean Beaton, Joyce Garcia, and Kurt Skrede, for proofreading and providing written feedback
- Linda Osmundson, Executive Director of CASA
- The staff of The Haven
- 2-1-1 Tampa Bay Cares, Inc
- St. Petersburg Free Clinic
- Pinellas County Utilities, especially Jennifer Caldwell, Camille Evans, Marie Jacobs, and Sam Parker
- The illustration of the men arguing is from College Alcohol Risk Assessment Guide: Environmental Approaches to Prevention, by B. E. Ryan; T. Colthurst; and L. Segars (Washington, DC: U. S. Department of Education, Higher Education Center for Alcohol and Other Drug Prevention, Revised 1997), p. 11. Reprinted with permission.
- The anti-gang poster was provided by the Florida Gang Investors Assn. You can find it and other posters at www.fgia.com/Poster_WIN_2003.htm.
- Tire garden picture was provided by the Civic Garden Center of Greater Cincinnati (Vicki Ciotti, Executive Director).

About the Curriculum Designer

Martha A. Lane has been involved in community-based ESOL (English for Speakers of Other Languages) and literacy projects since 1966. She holds several trainer certifications from ProLiteracy America, including ESOL Supervising Trainer. She is a member of the Core Knowledge Group for the National Institute for Literacy's ESL collection at www.eslcollection.org and consultant/designer for a variety of computer-assisted and Internet-based ESOL projects.

Marti co-authored the Laubach Way to English Series and has written more than a dozen curricula since its publication. Most of her current work is based on Howard Gardner's Theory of Multiple Intelligences. This series for Pinellas County was inspired by PEACE (Process for English and Civics Education), for which she served as curriculum designer and writer (see www.caliteracy.org/education/esl-civics/index.com). She currently is Director of Information Services and Special Projects for United Methodist Cooperative Ministries, Clearwater, FL.
